ORS R&D CENTRE

“Regulations for Application and Supervision of Support of Activities of Researches and Development” issued by the Ministry of Industry and Trade bearing date 12.03.2008 and number 5746, gives the opportunity for organizations to establish within their structure a R&D Centre and implement their R&D activities within this centre.

ORS has established a R&D centre by implementing relative law to effectively perform researches and development which have been developed since the establishment of ORS. Ministry of Industry and Trade’s commission for Evaluation and Supervision formed in the scope of “Regulations For Application and Supervision of Support of Activities of Researches and Development” published in Official Gazette dated 31.07.2008 number 26953, investigated and evaluated ORS’ R&D Centre and approved certification as of 16.02.2009.

ORS R&D Centre Director, engineer and technicians, since that date take part in current R&D activities and also newly developed R&D activities and consider each as a project to be carried out on a systematic basis and comprehensively, develop technical characteristics of ORS Bearings, starting from the stage of the design new bearings are developed for the most appropriate application. First result of our R&D Centre is a useful model certificate and also an application for a trademark has been made.

Ministry of Industry and Trade has organized a special ceremony on 26.02.2011 and invited 87 organizations which have established a R&D Centre till that date.

Prime Minister Mr. Erdogan who made a speech at the R&D Centre Certificate ceremony, emphasized the importance of science, technology and R&D investments to compete internationally, informed of the legal tools to increase R&D investments. Additionally, indicated aims for the economy, trade, export and technology in 2023 which is the Republic’s 100th year, and underlined that Turkey will be a pioneer country producing knowledge and trademarks.

Prime Minister Mr. Erdogan towards the end of the ceremony invited each organization's directors and congratulated them one by one and presented their certificate. On behalf of ORS our General Manager Mr. Ahmet ASLAN received our R&D certificate from the Prime Minister Mr. Erdogan.

ORS, will continue to advance with surely in the aim of industries quality, competitive strength ad providing customer solutions due to R&D Centre activities.
